CLOVIS REGIONAL AIRPORT ANNOUNCES FLIGHT SERVICE TO DALLAS

CLOVIS, NM - Beginning November 1, 2021, the Clovis Regional Airport will begin passenger service to the Dallas/Fort Worth International Airport (DFW), along with continuing its services to Denver. Denver Air Connection provides flights to and from Clovis through the Essential Air Service, and DAC currently provides 12 non-stop round trips per week to the Denver International Airport using its 30-passenger Dornier 328 Jet aircraft. In November, flight schedules will be split evenly between Dallas and Denver. Expanding flights to Dallas is a great addition to the services provided by the Clovis Regional Airport to better serve Clovis area residents and the region. Flights to Dallas will be available for purchase beginning October 1st.

“Denver Air Connection is driven first by the needs and wants of the communities we serve; adding DFW to Clovis air service is part of our commitment to you,” remarked Jon Coleman of Denver Air Connection. “We are grateful to the Clovis community for allowing us to bring jet service to CVN and to have been part of bringing TSA screening to the airport. DAC, your City leaders, and airport management are committed to elevating and growing passenger service out of the Clovis Regional Airport, and we all invite you to discover a better way to fly.”

James Harris, Director of the Clovis Regional Airport, also commented on the new flight to Dallas. “We are eager to connect Clovis passengers to the Dallas area and look forward to the opportunities that this will create for the airport and Clovis community as a whole.”
